

From: "Jonathan Yantis" <yantist@yantist.net>

Date: May 14, 2014 8:10 PM

Subject: RE: Can we talk in a couple hours?

To: [REDACTED]

Cc:

[REDACTED],

No real reason to talk - as Brock knows I don't like to talk voice if I can avoid it =). I just read your letter and great job.

So this is what happened:

In the beginning of 2004 we went to an Everquest fan faire in Las Vegas.

I had significant concerns on the recent drama with this Collins-Rector guy that Brock had previously be associated with and all the negativity around it and I had voiced my concerns on many occasions.

Brock wanted to prove to me that it was all BS and invited my wife and I to dinner with his friend who would proves it's all lies.

His friend's name was Michael Egan. Brock explained to me that Michael was the main guy involved in all of this.

Brock looks at Micheal and tells him that all of this is affecting Brock and my business relationship and if he could prove to me it was all lies. Michael then says. "I made it all up."

And that was that. From that point on I had no more doubts.

Best regards,
Jonathan